

Week 18

Frontrunn3rs – <http://fr3.frontrunners.dk>

Hej Katrine, we have got to do our week report filming now, Yes you are right, let's do some filming now.

Hello all! This is week 18 report, early Monday morning, we all rose with sleepiness due to extensively busy weekend of volleyball tournament. Facing the day of work with determination to pay attention as today we have a guest speaker, Joe Murray from Norway. The topics that Joe covered during his presentation, we all found them so fascinating and interesting. I will let Katrine to explain in more details of these topics.

Joe produced different presentations, all of various topics and these are Deaf Marriages and Genetics. He also assigned us to read three different articles about Deaf being labelled as a Disabled group, Visual Minority, and Ethnic minority.

There are main conflicts between both Deaf as Disabled and Ethnic Minority groups, we led a two group debate, discussing the preferences and suitability of each these groups. There is more interesting information regarding Joe's presentation in the interview with Joe Murray and with Giuseppe's lesson.

In the evening, Carolien, our FR3 participant from Belgian led a sport session which was new for all of us, so watch the film coming up soon and now Katrine and I are going to get change.

Voila, the sport is Aerobics, see us panting and sweating, training hard!

(Filming of aerobics)

I am here in the art room, as on Friday, we had Ole giving us presentation on "Culture Jamming" which is about technology and internet becoming worldwide. Culture Jamming consist of many different forms such as art, films, etc with an aim to make an impact on individuals, it can vary either from positive and negative aspects. Ole give us work on creating our own examples media on making an impact on people by using art, films, and many more.

On Saturday, most of us went out to town, we were suppose to go to Aarhus for shopping spree however unfortunately due to restricted amount of time, as the journey takes about an hour from Castberggård to Aarhus. So in the end we all opt for nearer town, which is Vejle, armed with money. Resting for lunch at the Chinese restaurant afterwards at a cafe for coffee, teas and cakes, chatting all the way through.

The rest of the weekend were relaxing with DVDS and chatting away, enjoying each others' company, preparing for a new week of working.

Watch us next week. Bye bye!
